

A new year and a fresh start!

Because of you, moms like Catherine have a fresh start.

Catherine was recovering from years of addiction issues when she and her son found themselves homeless. When they arrived at Save the Family, Catherine was already on a path of recovery.

"I just needed someone to believe in me. You guys always believed in me."

Catherine worked with Save the Family's Career Development staff to get her fingerprint clearance card and landed a job as a behavioral health technician.

She has worked her way up and now works as manager of a treatment facility, helping people facing the same challenges with substance abuse that she once faced.

With the help of Save the Family, Catherine has repaired her credit, built up her savings, and closed on the purchase of a home of her own last month.

None of this is possible without the support of people like YOU. Catherine is grateful for the second chance she received at Save the Family and is paying it forward every day through her work. Catherine lives each day in gratitude for the help she received at Save the Family.
